Building future-proof smart homes, together.

Meeting the growing consumer demand of building energy efficient homes at an unparalleled level of comfort – Eve products are the safe, smart and sustainable choice.

The future of smart home has arrived.

Eve is a pioneer in the new Matter connectivity standard offering smart home products that:

- Are fully interoperable, allowing customers to use their preferred smart home platforms
- Deliver the highest level of security for IoT devices and a smart home that honors your customer's privacy
- Provide unique flexibility for residential building professionals
- Connect reliably via wireless Thread technology

Cutting-edge connectivity.

Matter devices truly shine when they talk via Thread. This groundbreaking network technology makes the smart home more responsive, robust, and increases its reach.

If a single device fails, the data packets are simply relayed to the next in the mesh. In short: The network becomes more robust with every additional Thread device, such as the range-extending Eve Light Switch, offering an advantage over Wi-Fi devices.
